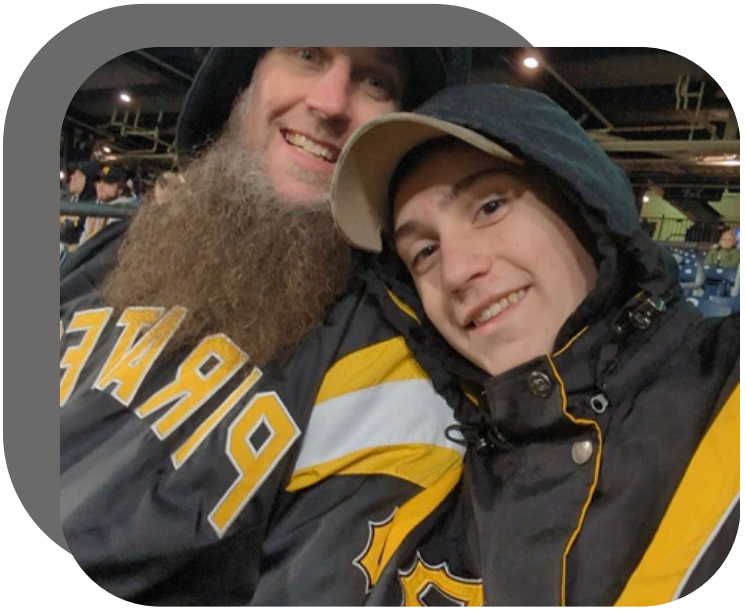
BCEdFest

On Monday, October 13, educators across Beaver County met at the CCBC dome for the first ever Beaver County EdFest to celebrate the hard work and dedication of all educators and to inspire innovation among the local school districts. At the entrance of the conference, members of STAP had the privilege of cheering the teachers on alongside students from other districts in order to increase enthusiasm for the fun event. Jimmy Casas, a nationally recognized educator, author and leadership coach, was the keynote speaker at the BC EdFest, providing the attendees with a message of empowerment and the importance of education. STAP was excited to be involved in the first annual BC EdFest and the entire district is anticipating some creative innovations as a result of this conference.

Minion Minutes

This month the minions, our students training for high school STAP, are working on many new topics that include Internet Phishing and preparing for TA (Teacher Assistant). The minions learned that Internet Phishing is when people online try to steal personal information by impersonating trustworthy sources. They could trick people into revealing passwords and things like credit card numbers. When learning about Internet Phishing, the minions take on concepts about what it is, the types of Internet Phishing, and how to avoid it from happening. The minions are also preparing for TA. The boys are helping out with reviewing principles, key concepts, and topics related to the subject that the minions will be assisting with. They are also figuring out tips, dates, and sending emails for transportation. The minions can't wait for the future concepts they will learn when being in this position!

Student of the Month



Each month a member of STAP is chosen to be student in the month due to their astounding work ethic within the program. This month's student is Bryce Bolles. Bryce is a freshman and works in the Networking department. In his free time he enjoys cooking and home labbing. Even out of STAP, Bryce enjoys working with tech. Some of his proudest tech accomplishments are that he made his own streaming service, created a home cloud storage machine, and has formed many other servers that help him keep media he has purchased without subscriptions.

Alaina Hutter

My name is Alaina, I'm a freshmen and I'm apart of the iPads department in STAP. As much as I enjoy figuring out how to work with iPads and help others, I also like spending my free time hanging out with my friends and family. As well as baking, being out doors, and most definitely sleeping. One of my favorite animals are cats, which I have 3 of. And lastly, I believe to get through anything, you have to believe in yourself! Thanks for reading a little about me!
